When I wrote about how to interpret dog gaits from tracks in the snow last month, I knew most readers would not have a chance to see what I saw until next winter. I knew you all would be busy turning to the pages of that newsletter, as you are now with this one, to get all the club events on your calendars. The snow would be gone by the time you read my words. I was wrong, it is April 1st today. There is fresh snow on the ground today.

Nonetheless, I'm going to write about spring and all the opportunities it provides. The time has come to leave the indoor agility course for the expanse of the outdoors. Weave poles can now be set as far from the seesaw as you wish, with the A-frame and tire jump distant dots on the landscape if that is what you want. Walls of a building need no longer constrain.

For me, as a member of the field sports side, the challenges for my dogs are even further spread across the landscape. To give an example, a GPS on my Setter last weekend showed thirteen-plus miles covered after a walk of less than an hour-and-a-half. My dog's main tests were spread across those miles, two Woodcock and a Grouse, with Alders and deadfalls providing miles of agility equipment as a bonus.

Before discussing the use of woodcock in spring as dog training equipment, a brief expository detour is in order to explain my partial disloyalty to spaniel country. I blame women, first my mother then my wife, for teaching and reinforcing my disloyalty to one breed. I was first born into a country of sheep dogs. My mother raised English Shepherds and Border Collies. When not training on sheep, she did obedience training.

The only dog of hers I ever cared for was a Golden which, when not on the obedience circuit or on TV, was my hunting companion in the years when sling-shots, atlatal launched spears, blow guns and other pre-firearms weapons were my only aids. As you can tell from this history, I was from the beginning a throwback. I was drawn to wild animals, both as pets and as prey. Sheep held no appeal.. The Golden, however, taught me early, as other dogs did our ancestors, that a dog was an essential aid to the hunt. Together we accounted for a number of rabbits and squirrels in those pre-gunpowder years.

After the acquisition of gunpowder and after swimming myself for a few ducks in sloughs both muddy and cold, I acquired a Lab. With the uplands affording more scope for my wanderings, Springers were next in a natural progression and but for the next strong feminine influence, I would still be loyal to them. My wife, however, wanted less mass of dogdom about the house and asked if it was possible to change to smaller dogs. A visit to the 2000 Cocker Nationals convinced me it was and Cockers followed. Only later when I assured her that an English Setter was barely bigger than a Cocker did she acquiesce to my newest hunting companion.

Enough justification for my owning a Setter and here follows the promised intelligence for Spaniel owners from the world of pointing dogs. As perhaps few Spaniel owners realize, grouse dog trials for Pointing dogs are run in the spring on wild grouse and the plentiful woodcock migrating through. Training for them consists of long runs in the woods on wild birds. Last weekend, a forty-five minute run for my nine-month-old Setter, just learning, produced his first grouse and two woodcock, all nicely pointed.

And now the bonus for Spaniels: that run was followed by a run of my two Cockers producing seven Woodcock flushes, each accompanied by the report of my starter pistol. But for the absence of any retrieve, this was a perfect training run on wild birds in the same hunting habitat we traipse in autumn amid golden, falling leaves. As all Spaniel trialers know, flushes without retrieves are important for training steadiness, but seldom offered by fall hunts due to the desire to never lose a bird.

Get out this spring before the fifteenth, while it is still legal to train on wild birds. You and especially your dogs will love the experience!

Good Training, Dick B.

MHSA Board Meeting Baker's Square Richfield April 7th 2009

Present: Brett, Art, Bill, Rachel, Jim, Kim, Charlie, Richard

1. Last months' meeting minutes: have not yet been sent to board for approval, Rachel to type and send out.
2. April Agenda approved
3. Old Business: Collection and transfer of club documents- tabled
4. New Business:
  - a. Club training: A lot of interest in more club training by new members who are beginner trainers. Organized training can help to draw new members. We have 1 club training schedule so far in June. Many new members may not know what activities are available. We will send out a postcard to the members highlighting the activities and direct more towards beginner trainers. Club will need commitments from experienced trainers to be available to help/train. Club would like to start with once a month scheduling and then re-evaluate the success. Cost to train at Good Going Kennels is $100, the club will absorb the rental cost and participates responsible for the birds used. Brett to check if July 11 and August 15th are available for training days. Brett as confirmed these dates for club training.
  - b. Fall hunt test dates: potential conflict with WESSA Hunt Test: The dates were discussed and the location of the WESSA test which is 380 miles away. It was decided to keep our current dates (Sept 5 and 6th)
  - c. Membership: Decline in membership, will look at ways to increase membership, ie club training. Bill and Rachel to work on a welcome packet to send to potential members.
  - d. Spring Hunt test: judges have been confirmed. Volunteers still needed and items for the raffle.

New members: Larry Hennesy and Dan Voye to be considered for membership.

Treasurer's Report: $2959.80 current balance

MHSA Cocker Field Trial

Major Ave Hunt Club, Glencoe, MN

Everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy some of the best English Cockers in the country running in our club field trial! The trial will start each day at 8:00 and run until about 3:00 each afternoon. The weekend is made up of 3 separate field trials, two Open Stakes and one Amateur Stake. For more details, view the premiums on the "Calendar" page at the club website www.mnhuntingspaniel.com If you have questions about the event please email the field trial secretary, Bethann Wiley at bethann-wiley@yahoo.com

AKC Spaniel Hunt Test

May 9th and 10th

Major Avenue

The fall hunt test is fast approaching and we are still in need of volunteers. If you are interested in volunteering please contact Bethann for planters and Heidi for marshalls and stewards.

We also need items for the raffle. If you have items to donate please let Bill or Ann know.

Please plan to join us for a weekend of fun at the fall hunt test. Hunting begins at 8 am. Each day will have a Junior, Senior and Master Test. For more details, view the premiums on the calendar page at the club website: www.mnhuntingspaniel.com. If you have questions please email the hunt test Secretary Ann Sunderman.

Please remember to wear your blaze orange at all club trials

Wags and Brags

This is a new section of the newsletter. I would like to highlight our members' dog awards, achievements, new litters or new dogs. Please send me a paragraph about the achievement along with a photo.

Congratulations to Ann Sunderman and Kiera on their new puppies:

My birthday gift this year was four new ESS puppies. Kiera, Ch Fox Hollow Brand New Day RN JH OA OAJ NF WD, presented me with four puppies on 03/25/09. The sire of the litter is Ch Ramblewood Believe, "Brooks". There are three girls and one boy. The boy and one of the girls are black and white and the other two girls are liver. In keeping with the birthday theme, their puppy names are Party, Wish, Card and Happy.

Spring is finally here!

Get out and enjoy your dogs!
